Fastaff nurses are part of a proud community, widely recognized as the first to serve in urgent and crucial situations. They are experienced, flexible, and dedicated to providing the highest quality of patient care.

Here's how they describe themselves:

"[As a Fastaff nurse] you have to be clinically strong. You have to learn the unit, software, and flow of the floor really fast. You have to have initiative. It is not for every nurse." – Fastaff Nurse

"Fastaff nurses are a different kind of nurse. We're experienced, know our stuff. When we give a report, they listen to us – they want to become like us, learn from us. We have confidence, know what we're doing. Doctors will listen to us. You have to be confident to work for Fastaff."

– Fastaff Nurse

"They [Fastaff] find nurses that are the best in their field – qualified and experienced."

– Fastaff Nurse

"A Fastaff nurse comes in easier – it's easier for [them] to mold, pick up the speed of the place than someone else who takes longer to get oriented." – Fastaff Nurse

"James has been nothing but pure joy and satisfaction to work with. He has been a great asset to the hospital, served as a mentor and preceptor to the nurses. He even goes the extra mile of coming extra to help in the unit. He is truly appreciated." – Facility Contact

Fastaff nurses often receive the highest praise from our clients.

As demonstrated through these comments of our 2017 Nurse Exit Interviews performed post-assignment by hospital administrators.

"Amy is an excellent nurse and an asset to any ICU."

– Facility Contact

"Lorraine is an excellent addition to our team. She is professional, kind and a well rounded practice nurse. I would highly recommend her for any OR assignment." – Facility Contact

"She came and worked all [three] major holidays willingly, and has adapted nicely to a really hard role."
